

Foreign Ministers Fail To Agree On EDC Eleven Of 19 Passengers Are Killed In Plane Crash

Braniff Lines Ship Caught In Rainstorm

MASON CITY, Iowa, Aug. 22 (AP)—A Braniff Airlines passenger plane, caught in a blinding storm, crashed on a farm south of here today and 11 of the 19 persons aboard were killed.

The twin-engine plane was demolished but did not burn. Witnesses said it bounced 500 feet scattering debris, after first hitting the earth.

Ten were killed in the crash and the 11th died shortly after arrival at a Hampton, Iowa, hospital. Six of the injured were in fair condition and two were critical.

The plane apparently struck a power line while buffeted by wind, hail and rain. It was only minutes from the Mason City airport.

The northbound plane was Flight 152, a DC3 bound from Memphis to Minneapolis, according to Braniff headquarters in Dallas.

The plane had made stops at Little Rock, Fort Smith, Ark., Muskogee and Tulsa, Okla., Joplin and Kansas City, Mo., and Des Moines and Waterloo, Iowa, prior to the crash.

No passengers boarded the plane in Des Moines but three got on at Waterloo including a transfer from Rockford, Ill., and two from Vin-ton, Iowa.

The plane crashed on a farm near the village of Swaledale, about 10 miles southwest of Mason City. It was reported "demolished."

Six of the survivors were brought to Mercy Hospital in Mason City and one of them, Mrs. Milton Schoenberg of Kansas City, Mo., was reported in critical condition.

Five others were all reported in fair condition.

Four Killed, 53 Hurt In Train Wreck

LOMA, Ill., Aug. 22 (AP)—The Chicago-to-Los Angeles Santa Fe Chief left the rails today, killing four persons and injuring 53 more.

The luxurious 13-passenger train carried 235 passengers. All of the cars except the locomotive and mail coach were derailed and some collided with a string of refrigerator cars standing on an adjoining track.

The derailed cars were strewn cross-roads along the right of way and a ditch. The derailment occurred just east of Loma, a town of 200 located about 10 miles east of Fort Madison, Iowa.

One car—No. 9—came to rest on its side. Most of the victims were in the car.

A hospital train was dispatched by Santa Fe officials from Chicago, with doctors and nurses aboard. But state police at the scene reported about two hours after the accident no additional help for the injured was needed.

Outcome Of Censure Charges Depends On Two Attorneys With Contrasting Personalities

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22 (AP)—The final outcome of censure charges filed in the Senate against Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) may well depend on the legal talent of two lawyers who have come into the national spotlight almost overnight.

They are E. Wallace Chadwick, a gaunt, 70-year-old former judge and one-time congressman from Chester, Pa., and Edward Bennett Williams, a square-jawed, handsome 34-year-old Washington lawyer who achieved local prominence as a man having a persuasive way with a jury.

These two will sit across the table from each other when a Senate committee headed by Sen. Watkins (R-Utah) considers 46 charges that McCarthy's conduct has tended to bring the Senate into disrepute.

The accusations—filed by Senators Fulbright (D-Ark.), Flanders (R-Vt.) and Morse (Ind-Ore)—range from allegations of improper treatment of committee witnesses

THIS CAR COLLIDED with tractor-trailer as both vehicles turned toward center of road in last-minute attempt to avoid head-on collision, Mount Pocono police said. Wrecked car was driven by Andrew Mihalow, 73, Mount Pocono, according to troopers. Other photo below. (Photo by Vince April)

Trucker Hurlled From Cab In Attempt To Avoid Collision

MOUNT POCONO—A tractor-trailer driver smashed his vehicle in an attempt to avoid a head-on collision with a car at 4:45 a.m. Saturday on Route 611 a mile south of here.

The truck driver, George Zioinicki, 39, Philadelphia, suffered a back injury and cuts on the chin, head and elbow. He was admitted to East Stroudsburg General Hospital, where he was reported last night in "good condition."

The auto driver, Andrew Mihalow, 73, Mount Pocono, was treated at the office of Dr. E. O. Hendrick here for a knee cut.

Police said Mihalow will be charged with driving on the wrong side of the center line, with information to be filed before Justice of the Peace Francis B. Widdess, Paradise Township.

The trucker told police he was driving south when he saw the headlights of a north-bound car approaching head-on in the south-bound lane.

Both vehicles swung toward the center of the four-lane highway at the same moment, police said. The right side of the car collided with the right side of the truck, police added.

The truck and trailer went on across the highway, struck an embankment, veered diagonally back across the highway to the other side again, struck a guard rail and rolled over on its left side.

The trucker was hurled from the vehicle.

Damage to the tractor-trailer was set at $3,000.

Car Theft Charge;
Young Man Sought

WIND GAP — A charge of car theft was filed yesterday against a Wind Gap girl, 21, by Police Chief William L. Templeton here.

The girl, June Bruch, was taken to Northampton County Jail by Chief Templeton, pending further court action.

Still being sought by the chief for questioning in connection with the theft is Edgar Heckman, Wind Gap RD. Templeton said he was looking for Heckman on the basis of information supplied by Miss Bruch.

There is a marked contrast between the two lawyers. Chadwick is a gangling man with a long, rough-cut face overhung by a forelock of gray hair.

Chadwick is rather deliberate and judicial in his manner of talking. In his interviews, with the press, he has carefully avoided showing whether he approves or disapproves of McCarthy. He has given no hint as to what kind of an examination of witnesses he might conduct.

"The committee will decide the ground rules and methods of procedure," Chadwick said. "As to whether I will be in the role of a prosecutor, I don't wish to discuss that. I will abide by the decisions of the committee. I am here to teach these gentlemen anything—but there is a great deal I can learn from them."

Chadwick has likened himself to a man drafted into the armed forces and has said: "I am going to Washington to serve my country."

Child 10 Dies From Shot In Spinal Cord

A NEW YORK CITY child with a bullet in her neck was dead on arrival Saturday at East Stroudsburg General Hospital.

County Coroner Dr. Charles H. Rushmore said a .22 caliber bullet had severed the spinal cord of Natalie Karr, 10, of 201 E. Ninety-Third St.

Blairtown State police said the girl was shot through the chin and neck by her brother, Peter, 13, at the Karr summer home in Pah-quarry Township, near Columbia, N. J., nine miles south of Stroudsburg.

Troopers Walter Schuler and Robert Verbeke, said Peter had been shooting at birds about 6:20 p. m. when his sister called to him. As he turned the rifle went off accidentally, police said.

An autopsy was performed by General Hospital pathologist M. J. Leitner. The bullet was recovered. Police at Washington, N. J., sub-station said the boy was in custody of his parents and that no charges were expected.

The girl's body was released to Clark funeral home, Stroudsburg, then transferred to a Manhattan funeral home yesterday afternoon.

BUSHKILL — Two accidents occurred here on Route 209 within three hours of each other yesterday. Damages totalled $850.

At 4:30 a. m. the sedan of Carl J. Cox, 24, Dunmore, ran off the road in a fog and struck a telephone pole, said Milford State police. Cox was not hurt. The pole was splintered, but not snapped off. Damage to the car was $400.

At 7 a. m., police said, the sedan of Herbert Miller, 40, Brooklyn, N. Y., pulled out to pass a truck and sideswiped the oncoming car of Andrew Herbenko, 38, Allentown. Damages were estimated at $100 to Miller's car and $350 to the other.

Reds Round Up Germ Warfare Researchers

By TOM REEDY
BERLIN, Aug. 22 (AP)—Allied security agents said today it looks as though the Soviet Union is rounding up a research staff in East Germany for experiments in germ warfare.

They voiced the belief after being apprised of reports that Russian agents in East Germany have arrested at least a dozen biologists and presumably whisked them off to the Soviet Union.

All the scientists seized are biologists who would be qualified for such study.

The clandestine roundup has been going on for weeks. First confirmation of it reached West Berlin several days ago with the arrival of four student scientists who disclosed the details of abductions of their professors. The four refugees have been given the protection of anonymity and seclusion.

A Meryenburg scientist got word out to a friend in American intelligence circles last week that eight of his associates had been snatched by Soviet agents and taken away, presumably to the Soviet Union.

Through underground channels, the West Berlin Free Jurists League said it had established the identities of some of the abducted scientists.

New German
Traitor Goes
Over To Reds

BOSS, Germany, Aug. 22 (AP)—A member of the federal Parliament who deserted with his family to Communist-controlled East Germany could have done so "only with the intention of high treason," West German officials declared tonight.

The defection of Karl Franz Schmidt - Wittmack, member of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's own Christian Democratic party (CDU), posed a grave new crisis for the Adenauer regime. It came only a month after the desertion to the East of Dr. Otto John, West German security chief.

Government circles summed up the new case as "a grave blow for the West German republic."

Like John, 40-year-old Schmidt-Wittmack knew many of the Bonn government's most important secrets. Although a freshman deputy elected in the Adenauer landslide last September, he belonged to two committees handling top-secret questions—European security and all-German affairs. His desertion was first disclosed last night in an announcement by East Germany's Red government.

Schmidt - Wittmack's parliamentary committees, which meet behind locked doors, deal with plans for German rearmament, the Bonn government's undercover operations in Communist Germany and its plan for the ultimate reunification of divided Germany.

Government leaders immediately voiced fear that the treason of a second government official in a month will create a new crisis of confidence for the Adenauer regime.

The President's address on the record of Congress will be televised live over all major networks at 8 p. m. EST tomorrow. Radio networks will carry it, too, with some of the broadcasts delayed.

The report on the record coincides with the stepping up of administration efforts to tighten GOP control of Congress in the November election.

The President and Mrs. Eisenhower arrived here by plane from Washington yesterday for a long vacation which, in the chief executive's case, will be mixed with considerable work.

For one thing, a catchefall of close to 500 bills passed by Congress in the closing days of the legislative session await his signature or veto.

President Scheduled To Give Report On Congress Tonight

DENVER, Aug. 22 (AP)—President Eisenhower went to work this first full day of his Colorado vacation on a television-radio report to be delivered to the nation tomorrow night on the record of the Republican 83rd Congress.

Dressed in casual clothes, the President showed up a few minutes before 11 a. m. at his summer White House office in Lowry Air Force Base.

The chief executive motored from the nearby home of Mrs. Eisenhower's mother, Mrs. John S. Bond.

The President went quickly to work in his office with a staff of speech-writing aides—Byron Harlow, Gavin McKinn and Press Secretary James Hagerly. Also on hand was screen actor and TV Producer Robert Montgomery, who served as a technical consultant in connection with Eisenhower's video appearances.

All 46 Censure Charges In McCarthy Case To Be Kept Alive By Senate Committee

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22 (AP)—Chairman Watkins (R-Utah) said today a six-man committee has agreed to keep alive all 46 censure charges against Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) but Sen. Carlson (R-Kan.) said initial testimony will be taken on only about a half dozen counts.

Watkins said that while consideration of the accusations against McCarthy will be limited to those the committee believes are censurable if proved, "We will reserve the right to go into other charges if new evidence develops."

Carlson said in a separate interview that he expects only about half a dozen of the 46 charges leveled against McCarthy by Sens. Flanders (R-Vt.), Fulbright (D-Ark.) and Morse (Ind-Ore) to get major consideration by the group unless there are unexpected developments.

The three accusers contended that McCarthy has been guilty of conduct unbecoming a senator, citing among other things some of his financial operations, his criticism of other senators and officials and his alleged defiance of a Senate Elections subcommittee.

The three filed a total of 46 counts against the Wisconsin senator in support of a general resolution by Flanders calling for Senate censure. Several of the charges in the three lists overlapped.

Several committee members indicated they want to confine the hearings largely to personal actions by McCarthy, excluding among other things his actions and speeches on the Senate floor, where every senator's right to express his opinions is jealously guarded.

Members said also that some of the other charges will be too vague to form a basis for censure, and some appear already to have collapsed, but there was no disposition in advance of the hearings to dismiss them entirely.

The hearings are scheduled to start Aug. 30.

Carlson told a reporter before he left Washington for a visit to Kansas it was the general understanding of the committee that none of the charges will be thrown out.

Although E. Wallace Chadwick, committee counsel, has yet to submit recommendations on the charges to be heard first, at least two members said there is little doubt in their minds that one subject of inquiry would be McCarthy's refusal to appear before a Senate elections subcommittee that investigated his affairs in 1952.

McCarthy testified before the subcommittee on charges he had made against former Sen. William Benton (D-Conn.), but never answered Benton's charges against him.

Flanders, Fulbright and Morse all made a point of McCarthy's alleged defiance of the group's request that he testify in answer to Benton's allegations.

Mendes-France Adenauer May Settle Saar

By Arthur Gavshon
BRUSSELS, Belgium, Aug. 22 (AP)—France and her five possible allies today announced failure of a bid to reshape their European army project but agreed to work for a re-armed Germany tied to the West.

The six-nation split at once left Allied policies in Europe up in the air. Among the immediate developments were these:

1. French Premier Mendes-France, whose proposals for revision of EDC were rejected, will fly to London tomorrow for a personal meeting with Prime Minister Churchill on European problems.

2. U. S. Secretary of State Dulles sent a note to Mendes-France saying the United States reserved its position on EDC if it is either changed substantially or rejected.

3. Chancellor Konrad Adenauer declared he expected quick action by Britain, France and the United States to give West Germany full sovereignty if the French National Assembly rejects EDC. But he expressed confidence Mendes-France would win ratification of EDC in the French National Assembly debate to begin next Saturday.

The foreign ministers of France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg issued a communique admitting failure in their four days of meetings but saying they had four political aims they shared for Europe.

These were listed as closer European cooperation to protect West Europe from any aggression; avoiding neutralization of Germany; continuing efforts to work for unification of Germany and some sort of German contribution to Allied defense; drafting a formula to promote the political and economic integration of the West.

Even as the foreign ministers reached the breaking point, the note from Secretary of State Dulles addressed to Mendes-France was delivered by special U. S. Ambassador David K. Bruce.

There was no immediate elaboration of Dulles' meaning that the United States had reserved its position on EDC if it is changed or rejected. But it was recalled that Dulles warned France last December that the ditching of EDC might touch off an "agonized reappraisal" of American foreign policies in Europe.

The Big Two of this four-day conference, Mendes-France and Adenauer, met today for a frank business talk after the conference formally wound up. This was their first meeting of this nature during the talks.

They surveyed the whole field of Franco-German relations—relations that lie at the root of the wobbly plan of European unity. German officials said afterwards the two men agreed they must work for improved relations and in the course of doing so should await a new opportunity for trying to settle the future of the disputed Saar basin.

Therein, perhaps, lies one key to the outcome of the French debate on EDC. The French Parliament has set a Saar agreement as one of the preconditions of ratification.

No Saar agreement from Brussels may mean no ratification.

Intraparty Differences Affect Legislation

Puerto Ricans Sen. McCarthy Top Features

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23 (AP)—The shooting of five House members by a band of Puerto Rican fanatics and the case of Sen. Joseph McCarthy obscured the legislative accomplishments of the 83rd Congress which adjourned Friday.

In the shadow of those two dramatic diversions, the first Republican Congress to serve under a Republican president in more than 20 years ground out a lot of work.

Just how good the work was, will be argued the length and breadth of the land between now and the November elections in which all 435 House seats and 37 Senate positions will be at stake.

Its Republican leaders contend it was one of the outstanding Congresses of all time. Democrats don't subscribe to that. Their position is that the record of Congress demonstrates the need for more Democrats—enough more to upset the close balance of power in favor of the GOP during the last two years.

In its two sessions, Congress sat for more than 14 months, from Jan. 3 to Aug. 3, 1953, and from Jan. 6 to Aug. 20, 1954. Barring a special session call from the President, the House won't come back until Jan. 5, 1955. But the Senate is slated to return this fall to hear a special committee's report on censure charges against Sen. McCarthy.

During the past two sessions, six senators and eight members of the House died. Among them was Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio, "Mr. Republican." Five members of the House were killed by bullets fired from the galleries by a group of Puerto Ricans on March 1, 1954. All of them recovered. Their assailants have been sentenced to prison.

That shooting, first of its kind in congressional annals, was the main incident that disturbed the normal operations of the House.

On the Senate side, much attention was devoted to the McCarthy-Armstrong row and to the move to censure activities of McCarthy.

Statistically, the 83rd Congress enacted over 1,200 laws, about half of them of interest only to individuals, the others of more or less general interest.

In the realm of controversy and opinion is President Eisenhower's legislative "batting average." The President won many of his legislative battles, lost others, compromised some.

The White House called the average "pretty good." It said that of 65 proposals the President "struck out" only 11 times. But Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, Democratic leader, contended the administration was wrong on such policies as taxes, farm price supports, labor, power and business policies. He said Democrats will pitch their campaigns on those issues.

That Eisenhower was not dealing with a "rubber stamp" Congress was shown by his failure to win such things as statehood for Hawaii, health insurance, new powers to cut tariffs, or a decrease in the voting age to 18.

His major victories included passage of laws to extend social security to 10 million more persons and increase the benefits and social security taxes, to overhaul the general tax structure, to revamp the atomic energy laws, to put flexibility into farm price supports, to pave the way for development of the St. Lawrence Seaway, to spell out the rights of states to submerged lands within their historic coastal boundaries, and to tighten internal security.

On other major measures, the President gave ground and had to accept less than he wanted. In his category were bills dealing with housing and foreign aid.

During its two years, Congress whacked approximately six billion dollars from the Eisenhower requests for new funds to finance all government activities.

Had it not been for help from Democrats, the President would have lost some of the battles he won and, had it not been for their opposition, he probably would have won some that he lost.

Intraparty differences which had prevented Presidents Roosevelt and Truman from getting all they wanted from Democratic Congresses cropped up in GOP ranks to make the going rough for President Eisenhower.

By major subjects, here is the record of the 83rd Congress:

Appropriations

Voted approximately 113 billion dollars in new funds — 59 billion last year and 54 billion this year. This is about six billion less than President Eisenhower requested.

THERE'S AN INCOME TAX BENEFIT HERE FOR YOU

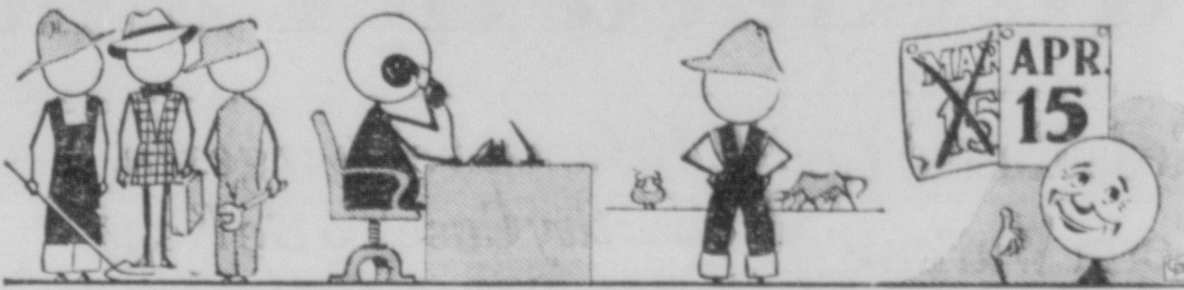

HEADS OF FAMILIES get full income splitting privileges for two years after the death of a spouse if they have dependent children.

WORKING MOTHERS deductions of up to $600 in costs of caring for child under 12; some for incapacitated dependents of widows.

STOCKHOLDERS get exemption for the first $50 of dividend and 4 per cent of the remainder can be subtracted from final tax bill.

RETIRED PERSONS get exemption for $1,200 of retirement income for those over 65; some for those under 65 if income is public system.

FARMERS, SALESMEN, SMALL SHOP OWNERS get a greater depreciation exemption during early use of equipment and buildings.

BUSINESS gets the same depreciation deduction allowed farmers. The last for one year can be spread over the two previous years.

FARMERS can deduct expenses for soil, water conservation practices up to 25 per cent of total income; no tax on sale of diseased cattle.

EVERYONE gets extra month, filing deadline becoming April 15. Charitable deductions up to 30 per cent, all medical expenses over 3 per cent.

THIS CHART sets forth some of the tax benefits in the new law signed by President Eisenhower. The mammoth tax revision, a cut of $1,365,000,000, took two and a half years to formulate. (Central Press)

Of the total, more than $3 billion was for the Defense Department.

Taxes

Cut some excise taxes and continued others. Repealed the admissions tax on movies, but President Eisenhower vetoed this act and it did not become effective. Enacted the first general tax revision law since 1875 but refused to include in the revision an increase in personal tax exemptions.

National Debt

At the President's request, the House voted to increase the national debt limit from 275 billion dollars to 290 billion, but the Senate substituted for this a temporary increase to 281 billion dollars and the House accepted the substitute.

Social Security

Enacted a law increasing social security taxes and benefit payments and bringing an additional 10 million people under the social security program. The House killed a bill, requested by the President, to set up a system of government reinsurance for private health insurance plans. A bill broadening the federal-state program of rehabilitation of physically handicapped persons was sent to the President.

Labor

The President's request for changes in the Taft-Hartley Labor Relations Act was bypassed. The Senate Labor Committee killed a bill embodying the changes, and the House Labor Committee shelved a companion measure. Both branches passed a bill broadening the unemployment compensation program.

Constitutional Amendments

The Senate defeated proposed amendments to limit the government's treaty-making powers and to lower the voting age to 18 years. The House Judiciary Committee shelved Senate resolutions proposing amendments to limit membership on the Supreme Court, to allow governors to appoint House members under emergency conditions, and to provide equal legal rights for women.

Statehood

The House voted to admit Hawaii to the Union; the Senate amended the bill to include Alaska, but the House refused to act on the Senate proposal and neither territory won statehood status. Bills to extend voting rights to residents of the District of Columbia and to give the district representation in Congress died in committee.

Pay Raises

Bills to boost the pay of members of Congress and federal judges died in committee. Bills liberalizing the congressional pension plan and providing for group insurance for members of Congress and federal employees were enacted. The House voted to raise the pay of postal employees seven per cent but accepted a Senate amendment giving postal workers and civil service employees a five per cent raise instead. The estimated total annual cost is 228 million dollars. The bill went to the White House despite strong hints that it might be vetoed because it provided for "no additional postal revenue."

Monroe-Pike Educators Called To Civil Defense Confab

Litts, Jones Leaders Of Delegations

MONROE and Pike County education officials will attend a conference Wednesday, Aug. 25 in Norristown to discuss school activities in Civil Defense this year.

Heading the Monroe delegation will be John C. Litts, county superintendent, and representatives of several county school districts. Lloyd Jones, Pike County superintendent, will head the delegation from that area.

The meetings have been planned by the State Council of Civil Defense in cooperation with the Department of Public Instruction. Dr. Francis B. Haas, State superintendent, extended invitations to all area superintendents, supervising principals and interested instructors to attend the meeting.

Dr. Richard Gerstell, State director of Civil Defense, announced the final arrangements for the meeting last night and said:

"The educators have a tremendous responsibility in this age of the atomic and hydrogen bombs. This is better understood when you realize that during a good part of the year approximately two and one-half million students are in their care, or almost one-fourth of the population of the State. Splendid progress is being made but with the aid of these meetings we are hopeful of improving."

All other persons interested in school planning for Civil Defense are invited to attend the Norristown meeting, Gerstell said. A similar conference will be held Aug. 24 in Harrisburg for educators from Central Pennsylvania regions.

A complete list of Monroe educators planning to attend the conference will be released this week by Litts' office.

Thousand Join Plaque Ceremonies

TOBYHANNA—A thousand people saw an American Flag presented to officials of St. Alphonsus Retreat House here yesterday afternoon.

A plaque memorializing the late Bishop William J. Hafey, Scranton, was also presented and blessed.

The flag, given by members of the Scranton Council, Knights of Columbus, was raised by them and other knights during the ceremonies.

The Knights then formed a guard of honor to escort Bishop Henry T. Klonowski from the retreat rectory to the outdoor altar.

Atty. George Tuhak, Hazleton, regional director of Catholic Laymen's Retreat League, described the Catholic layman's duty toward Communism. These laymen would do much to circumscribe Communist efforts, he said, if they would put as much time and energy into their activities as the Communists do.

Bishop Klonowski described the efforts of Bishop Hafey in the retreat movement, which he founded in the Scranton diocese.

The plaque was presented by Retreat League members.

Bishop Klonowski, assisted by Rt. Rev. C. A. McHugh of Mount Pocono and other parish priests, celebrated mass.

The day was also open house for local men and their families. Families were given an opportunity of inspecting the premises where retreat members spend weekends and the second week of October.

Retreat will be Oct. 8-10 this year for men of St. Matthews, Mark, Luke and John. Men of any race, creed or color are invited for that retreat or for any weekend retreat.

Retreat information may be obtained from Chester Mertens, regional director, at Stroudsburg 3873.

Cars Collide On Route 611, No Injuries

MOUNT POCONO—A car ran into the rear of another on Route 611 two miles south of here at 8 p. m. Saturday. There were no injuries.

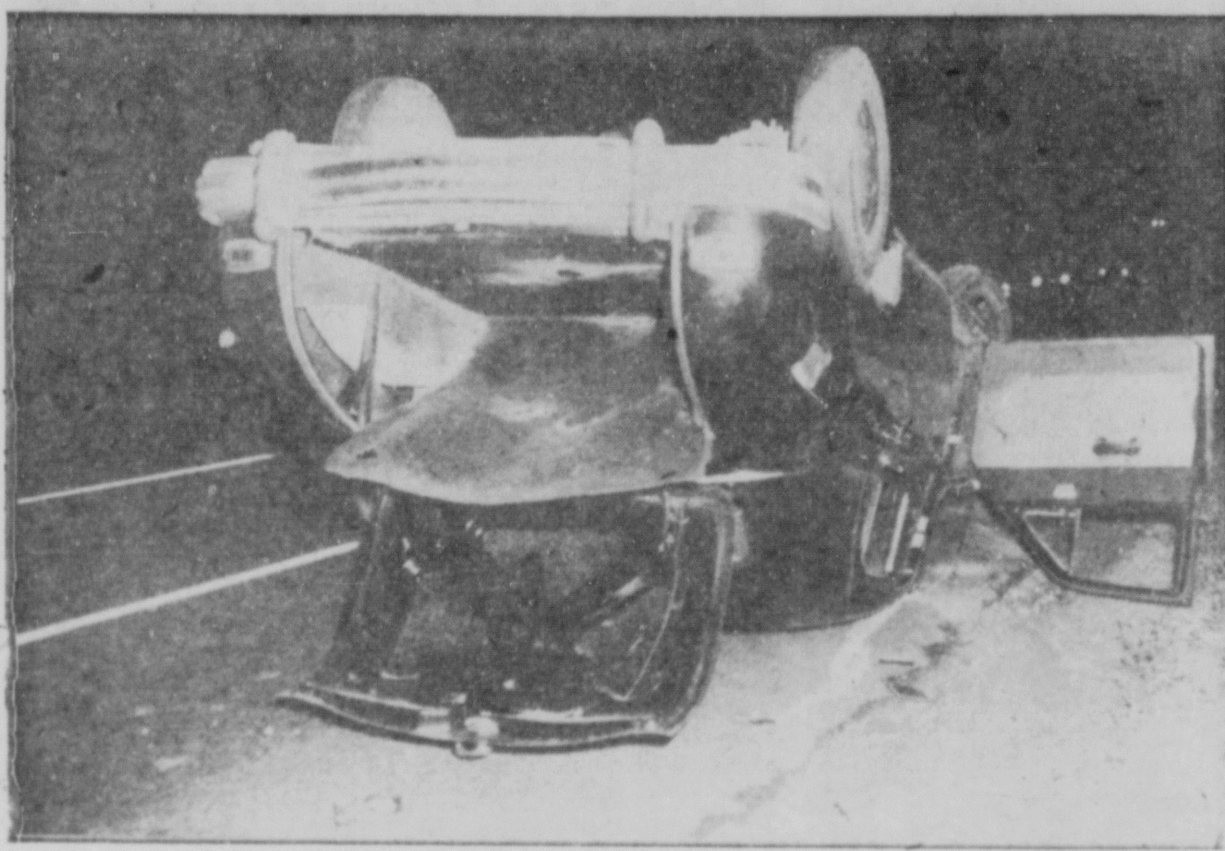

Mount Pocono troopers said the cars were driving north with Louise Munton, 55, Narberth, Pa., in the lead and Lawrence Hardy, 41, Analomink, following.

Police said the Munton car started to make a right turn and was struck in the rear by Hardy's vehicle. Damages to each car were estimated at $50.

Three Ordered For Induction

THREE STROUDSBURG men have been ordered to report for induction into the armed services today, according to Mrs. Beulah S. McConnell, clerk of Local Selective Service board No. 105.

Slated to report this morning are John K. Melixell, Robert T. Carter and Lee B. Koehler, all of Stroudsburg. Mrs. McConnell said.

UPSIDE-DOWN SHAKE—Three occupants of this car miraculously escaped injury Friday night. Crash occurred on Foxtown Hill two miles south of Stroudsburg. Stroudsburg State police investigated; said driver was Elmer H. Sailer, suburban Trenton, N. J. Sailer told police he swerved to avoid car making improper pass coming uphill; his car went off road, hit the bank, overturned. Sailer's head was slightly cut; his wife and daughter were uninjured. They refused medical attention. Car was towed from scene by local garage.

Freed Scranton Priest Says Red China Will Have Famine

NEW YORK, Aug. 22 (AP)—The Rev. John May, of Scranton, Pa., one of three American priests just released by the Chinese Communists, predicts a scouring famine in Red China within eight months.

His colleagues—The Rev. Ernest Hotz of Brooklyn, and the Rev. Lawrence Mullin, of Jersey City—agree with him.

And all three likewise believe that the ordinary people of China are dissatisfied with Red rule and are stoically biding their time in hopes that someone will save them before many starve to death.

The priests were interviewed in Hong Kong by CBS Correspondent Guy Searls for the network's "World Assignment" program broadcast from New York. The priests have spent years in China.

Said Father May: "The Chinese say 'It won't be long now.' What they mean by that is 'It won't be long until we starve.' They're actually smiling when they say it because most of them say that to starve now in China is not too bad because 'We haven't got anything to live for.'"

"I have seen the devastation of the recent floods in China, and China positively cannot avoid a famine either late this year or certainly next year."

"The sending of relief supplies by America would be absolutely useless unless Americans could go into China with the food to make sure it is distributed to the people themselves and not to the comrades."

"The Communists just don't care enough about the people. They would rather let them starve and use the food for barter with other countries. If the people died, they'd have that many fewer mouths to feed."

State Council Of Employees Ask For SS

HARRISBURG, Aug. 22 (AP)—The Pennsylvania State Council of Public Employees (AFL) is seeking quick action by Gov. John S. Fine toward bringing an estimated 50,000 state workers under federal social security coverage.

Robert P. Lonergan, council executive director, wrote a letter to Fine yesterday asking him to act as soon as possible in setting up a vote to determine whether state workers want the coverage under legislation passed by Congress this week.

"As governor of our Commonwealth we urge you to promptly initiate action as provided for under this new legislation and to conduct the necessary elections among state employees to bring about social security coverage," the letter said.

Lonergan informed Fine that the council and allied state employee local unions are "unanimously in favor" of the federal coverage for state employees. Many municipal workers in Pennsylvania have been brought into the program under provisions of the old act.

Light Blinds Driver, Car Total Wreck

A CAR WAS demolished when its driver was blinded by headlights on Route 6 about 20 miles west of Milford at 10:30 p. m. Saturday.

Milford State troopers said the driver was Donald E. Hempstead, 34, Honesdale, who was admitted to Wayne Memorial Hospital in Honesdale for treatment of head cuts and for observation.

The car was a $1,200 loss, police said. Troopers said the car ran off the road while traveling west, and crashed in a gulley.

Second Art Show Is Set For Friday

THE SECOND 1954 Summer sidewalk art show will be held Friday and Saturday of this week in Stroudsburg.

An estimated 500 to 1,000 works will be brought in for exhibit in the show, according to Pocono Mountains Art Group officials.

Registration will be held at 9:30 a. m. Friday for the two-day show. Those artists who are unable to register Friday morning may do so on Saturday, however.

Mrs. Mona Fitzgerald will serve as registrar for the show. A fifty-cent registration fee is charged.

All artists, residents or visitors, are invited to show their works.

Anyone interested in taking part should contact Olivia Dreher at 804 Main St. or, by phone, at Stroudsburg 4484.

Artists should bring their own camp-chairs, clotheslines and other material for exhibition, Miss Dreher said.

All types of work and crafts may be exhibited. The show opens at 10 a. m.; closes at 10 p. m. on each of the two days, Miss Dreher announced.

Personal Income Increased

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22 (AP)—Total personal income increased in all but five states last year, the Commerce Department reported today.

Top gainers were Michigan, Florida, South Dakota, Ohio, Indiana and Nevada, where individual income totals rose by 9 to 12 per cent. Per capita income in these states ranged from $1,362 in South Dakota to $2,175 in Nevada.

The compared with a national personal income increase last year of 6 per cent and national per capita personal income of $1,709. Personal income before taxes in all states last year amounted to $250,577,000 compared with $256,091,000 the year before.

Per capita income exceeded the national average in 17 states and the District of Columbia in 1953. In nine states and the District of Columbia per capita was above $2,000 per year. Delaware had the highest per capita income, $2,304.

Only two states—Mississippi with $834 and Arkansas with $939—had per capita incomes of less than $1,000 in 1953.

In all other seven regions listed in the survey the average per capita income was higher than the national average.

The five states in which income last year was reported lower than the year before were, Wyoming, Nebraska, Kansas, Idaho and Iowa.

Triumph Of Achievement

The difficult problem of race discrimination was given a big assist from two quarters on one day last week, when for the first time in history one Negro attended a cabinet meeting as a participant while another became the highest ranking American in the United Nations.

Assistant Secretary of Labor James E. Wilkins sat in at the weekly session of the cabinet in the White House because Secretary Mitchell was away from Washington. Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, Nobel prize winner, assumed the post of deputy secretary general in a promotion announced by Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld.

This triumph of achievement on the part of two prominent members of the Negro race should go far to prove to those who continue to battle their advancement that men and women of capacity must be judged by such capacity rather than by race, color, or religion.

One has only to look about to see superior individuals and those who are inferior. They represent all elements of the human race, and they are a credit or a discredit to the groups from which they come according to their several abilities.

Vocal groups defending or opposing the rights of minorities to be accorded recognition in our civilized world can render great assistance or great disservice according to their approach to the ever-present problems involved.

Certainly it must be apparent to those who do not blind themselves to the basic facts that in the nearly one hundred years since the Civil War with its abolition of slavery for the Negro race, considerable progress has been made as evidenced by such recognition as accorded Mr. Wilkins and Dr. Bunche. These very facts cut the ground from under the evil propaganda of the Communist pleaders.

'Good Boy' Killers

The most beastial exhibition of savage sadism on the part of four 'teen-age youths, described by their parents as "good boys" who would never think of such cruelty, has come to light with the arrest of the youths and their confessions to slaying two men, horse-whipping of two girls, and brutal attacks on homeless derelicts.

The latest addition to the list of crimes for which they will be arraigned comes from the testimony of an old man now recovering in hospital from serious burns suffered when the four drenched him with gasoline and applied a match.

Ring leader of this incredible group of mad dogs in human guise said in his confession to police that he "wanted to beat people up, and loved to see them squirm and suffer."

Police, accustomed to brutalities, are aghast at this frightful display and have compared it to the "thrill" slaying of little Bobby Franks some thirty years ago by Leopold and Loeb. Psychologists, seeking the force compelling these school boys to want only to murder and torture their helpless victims, cannot come up with the answer.

Why did they do it? Granted that they may have been pampered by their parents or neglected by them, does that provide excuse for the senseless brutalities to which they have freely and without apparent regret confessed?

What made them go berserk, these youths who branded themselves together to roam the Brooklyn parks in search of their prey, and who were not apprehended until a passerby chanced to see them beating one of their victims?

This is a nauseating story, and one which must be thoroughly studied if the law of the jungle is not to prevail.

George Sokolsky Says...

Committee For An Effective Congress Proposals Are Wholly Unnecessary

The National Committee for an Effective Congress is the directing agency for the fight on Senator Joe McCarthy, but what do they mean by an "effective Congress?" The functions of Congress are determined by the Constitution of the United States.

Whether a Congress is effective or not is to be measured by the quality of the work it does in passing legislation which is its main function under the Constitution.

Harry Truman, for instance, insisted that the 80th Congress was a "no nothing" Congress which is an incorrect appraisal as the record will show. It is the 80th Congress in which Senator Robert A. Taft gave full evidence of his statesmanlike capacity; it was also the Congress in which Arthur Vandenberg rose to heights of statesmanship. It passed a number of important measures in the realm of social legislation, particularly the Taft-Hartley law which is still on the statute books.

The 83rd Congress faced many difficulties, including the fact that it had no working majority in the Senate and an inadequate working majority in the House of Representatives. It also suffered from the fact that the President's legislative program was not ready for the first session and therefore valuable time was lost. Nevertheless, the 83rd

Congress will close with a good record of effective legislation, of considerable debate on important subjects, and of able investigation by its committees. The lack of a working majority gave the Democrats more authority than usually goes to a minority party but it also added to minority responsibility.

One of the tasks of the American Congress is to avoid being dominated by the Executive. There are Americans who prefer the British form of government in which the cabinet consists of Members of Parliament, making the executive and legislative branches of government identical.

The Prime Minister is elected as an ordinary Member of Parliament and is chosen Chief Executive because he is the elected leader of his party.

Dear Sir:

I detect a degree of shifting of ground since Mr. Thatcher Adams' first letter appeared in the Record on Monday, Aug. 16. On that date, Mr. Adams advocated a "universal legal order" as the panacea for mankind's problems. But in his second letter, which appeared today, he granted my contention that Russia would undoubtedly have nothing to do with such a system if it were under non-communist control. He therefore advocates that the rest of the world should go along on its own in building this "universal legal order", and the huge power bloc thus created would act as a deterrent to Russian aggression. But such a system would in no way be "universal," according to any definition of the word. It would be, rather, a continuation of the present process of polarization of power around two large antagonistic countries.

I should like to comment briefly on this theory that centralization of power around two or three countries will create a balance, and thus peace. Both great wars of this century have resulted from the centralization of massive blocs of power. In "1984", George Orwell discusses the probable result of all world power being polarized about two or three hostile forces: totalitarianism for all. This is not to say that the United States should not have protected herself from aggression with as many allies as possible; it is, rather, to point out that the solution to the problem of "world wars" is to decentralize power rather than to centralize it. I feel that a multi-nation-state system, each completely sovereign, but free from alliances and power pacts is the ideal to be reached for if one is concerned with the problem of human life and freedom. This, to my mind, is the true meaning of "balance power."

But let us get back to the present realities of the situation, rather than long-range hypotheses. At present the United States is facing the most formidable opponent in its history. We need all the allies we can get in the forthcoming struggle. (Anyone who says there is no forthcoming struggle simply has not read history.) Mr. Adams' solution is for all the non-communist countries of the world to join in one large sovereign "legal order." But how could this come to pass? France won't even ratify E.D.C. Britain is dragging its heels on a strong anti-communist policy. Practically all the Scandinavian countries are avowedly neutral. And how would you get a country like India to join an anti-communist power bloc?

Mr. Adams disputes my statement that world government is undesirable even if practicable because of the differing religions, races, cultures, castes, social and economic interests of the peoples of the world. He states that the answer is simply to look at America, the "melting-pot." This viewpoint is one of those specious arguments that falls apart when you look at it closely.

The answer is that America, as a nation with a culture of its own, has absorbed, culturally and politically, all who have come to our shores. We Americans agree on basic principles, and that is the reason we can compromise on political issues and form into two large, loosely constructed political parties rather than breaking down into a multi-party system. We can do this because our parties, like ourselves, do not disagree on basic principles. We all agree (except the lunatic fringe) that church and state should be separated, we agree that our government should be a representative republic, we agree on allegiance to the constitution, we agree that there should be judicial review, etc. The most liberal Democrat or conservative Republican would not disagree on the above principles. And herein lies our strength. Not being divided on principles, we can compromise on issues.

Now let's look at another country for comparison. France, for example, is divided on basic principles. Some Frenchmen think there should be a communist government, others don't; some think church and state should be separated, others disagree; the list is endless. Thus you have about fifteen French political parties which cannot compromise because to do so would be to sell out one's principles. Governmental instability and chaos have resulted. I have gone through all this to point out that the nations of the world meeting together are just like the French parties. There is no principle. Therefore, issues could not be solved. An low congressman can get together with a New York congressman and a compromise can be reached. Let's imagine a scene in the legislative halls of the "world government." Could a "congressman" from Israel ever agree on any issue with a "congressman" from the Arab states? The answer is obvious.

Mr. Adams did not get my point about the probability of wars within governments (civil wars) rather than between them. A civil war within an international organization would be an international war.

At this point, I wouldn't blame Mr. Adams for asking me: "Well, just what would you do? You see no hope in the alliance system, you discount the desirability and practicability of world government of any sort, and you insist that war will come eventually." Here is my answer: The United States should leave the United Nations, which is an utter failure and a disgrace to American pride, and then build up a tremendous military machine, the basis of which should be long range air power, as we could not fight a land war in Asia.

We have been forced by our "allies" into isolation. We have to go it alone.

Sincerely,
John G. Kiffin

Looking At Life

—by Erich Brandeis

Leadership Dare Not Be Asserted Without Control

At a news conference President Eisenhower remarked that we talk too much about American leadership in the world, and that the judgment on this point should be left to others.

As long as we attempt, he continued, to look upon ourselves as "We know the right answers; now you get in with them," that is poor psychology.

And then he went ahead and told the newspapermen his idea of how we should behave in world affairs.

We want to do what is right, what is just, and what is decent, and try to get them going along because they believe in the same thing.

Sometimes I wonder whether the philosophy of so simple a man as Eisenhower is not much more useful than that of a Plato, a Locke, a Hegel, because his "love of wisdom" (and that is what philosophy means literally) is acquired by long years of living rather than by sitting in an ivory tower.

Mind you, there is nothing political about this remark. Philosophy is confined neither to Republicans nor to Democrats—while the extravagant talk about "American leadership" is certainly used in profusion by members of both parties.

TALKING about leadership is very much like what Mark Twain said about the weather—there is a lot of talking about it, but very little done.

While the following story has really nothing to do with the aforementioned subject of "leadership," still it can be applied to it at that.

The Ontario Lands and Forests Department has come up with a helpful tip to anyone who wants to catch a porcupine.

"The best way to effect his capture," a department bulletin says, "is to wait until he's in the open. Then watching for the slapping tail, rush in quickly and pop a large washtub over him."

"Thus you have something to sit on while you figure out the next move."

The trouble with so many of us is that we try to tackle the porcupine before we have a washtub handy and thus we are forced to figure out the next move before we have caught the porcupine.

Which shows that even with a porcupine you cannot exert leadership unless you first have the animal under control.

What the wrong kind of leadership can do is shown by the edict of an American colonel in Germany that no women must wear bare back, halter type sunsuits within his jurisdiction; that no bare midriff costumes are allowed, no pin curlers unless neatly covered by suitable scarf or headgear; no shorts and no levis.

This order applies to all post exchanges, all parental activities, commissaries, theatres and service clubs.

Already many of the service women are up in arms about the order.

There is apparently a leader who forgot to get his washtub before he tackled the porcupine.

Chou's harangue was disregarded, and later the Chinese did attack—at heavy cost to the surprised Eighth Army. That's why the Joint Chiefs of Staff are making a careful study of the Red's latest war speech.

It is viewed as highly significant that more than one-third of Chou's remarks are devoted to the theme of "liberating" Formosa.

However, there is one important favorable factor in this explosive situation.

There are no indications the Reds have the vessels necessary for a long-scale amphibious assault across the turbulent 100-mile Straits of Formosa.

It would take a lot of ships to transport such an invasion. There is no sign such an armada is being assembled. Until that happens, talk about assailing Formosa is wish-thinking.

But what is probable are air attacks. A number of jet bases have sprung up opposite Formosa, and the Reds may strike that way.

Try and Stop Me —by Bennet Cerf

A meeting in Hollywood recently was arranged between two girls seldom bracketed in the public imagination: Miss Edith Sitwell and Miss Marilyn Monroe. What's more, Miss Sitwell, famed for her poetry and her beautiful hands, and Miss Monroe, who boasts charms a trifle more obvious, were soon lost in most friendly and animated conversation. An eavesdropper avers that the subject under discussion concerned astrology in general and the constellation Sagittarius in particular. "I had no idea that you believed in astrology!" exclaimed Miss Sitwell. Miss Monroe's ingratiating reply was, "I believe in everything—a little." Later Miss Sitwell confessed that two of her best friends were panting to meet the glamorous movie star. "Goody," said Marilyn. "Who are they?" Miss Sitwell told her, "Aldous Huxley and Igor Stravinsky."

U. S. Navy Forces Guarding Formosa Brush With Reds

Washington — American naval forces guarding Formosa have already had several brushes with the Chinese Reds.

President Eisenhower was breaking no news to them in his warning they will have to "run over the Seventh Fleet" to invade the Nationalist stronghold. The Communists are fully aware of that from brusque first-hand experience.

None of these unpublished incidents involved shooting. But that was only because the Reds didn't fire. If they had, there would have been instant retaliation.

Most recent encounter occurred in the vicinity of small offshore islands held by the Nationalists. The Communists suddenly began shelling them heavily in apparent preparation for an assault. That's their usual practice. The Nationalist commander called for reinforcements. As they were being rushed over, several U. S. aircraft carriers also appeared on the scene.

One of these carriers and escorting craft sailed within range of the Communist guns.

But they did not fire on the American ships.

The Nationalists' reserves were landed without trouble or loss. The Reds, if they had intended a raid, abandoned it. The carriers continued their patrol for a while and then departed unmolested. Those particular islands have not been disturbed since.

Pentagon authorities are not taking Premier Chou En-lai's threats lightly. The Peiping mogul has a penchant for ferocious anti-American outbursts, but on occasion his pronouncements are more than propaganda talk.

A painful instance of this was his 1950 warning that the Reds would invade Korea if UN forces marched north of the 38th Parallel.

Chou's harangue was disregarded, and later the Chinese did attack—at heavy cost to the surprised Eighth Army. That's why the Joint Chiefs of Staff are making a careful study of the Red's latest war speech.

It is viewed as highly significant that more than one-third of Chou's remarks are devoted to the theme of "liberating" Formosa.

Slate Belt Exchange Aids Youth

—by Jack Hill

Moving through the grounds of the Blue Valley Farm Show between Bangor and Pen Argyl the other day, we saw many of the men who for nine years have been actively engaged in seeing that this great community enterprise for youth of the Slate Belt region keeps growing.

Few people in the upper reaches of the Poconos know that the Blue Valley Farm Show is "project number one" of the Bangor Exchange Club.

Over nine years ago members of the Exchange Club set out to do something for the Slate Belt's youngsters. Their decision to provide encouragement for youth studying arts and crafts, vocational agriculture and vocational home economics was followed by generous amounts of labor, materials and finances.

The main exhibit building on the grounds—an affair similar in appearance to a quonset building—is made of cement block. Volunteer labor erected it.

Growth of the Fair—which ended Saturday—has been steady, and community reaction is found in the fact that over 25,000 people visited it this year.

Blue Valley Farm Show officers include Jay Sleep, president; John Metzgar, vice president; Millard Gleim, secretary and Earl Kessler, treasurer.

Backing these men actively are all officers and members of Bangor Exchange Club and these directors of the Show:

Pasquale Vicario, Ken Ace, John Metzgar, Bob Bartlett, Paul Stiles, Clarence Brown, Delbert Messinger, Miles Heller, Willis Gardner, Samuel Hicks, Ray Young, George Ott, Miller Gleim and Earl Kessler.

Checking the prize list we found there's not a business or industrial enterprise in the Slate Belt area which does not give cash for suitable awards to the high school student winners.

This amazing community support is the most important factor in the Exchange Club's "project number one."

The people and firms in the Slate Belt region are to be congratulated for their support of Bangor Exchange Club's Blue Valley Farm Show.

Here is one of those efforts which go a long way toward keeping America strong by keeping the youth of America strong in the ways of progressive community action.

3rd Annual Pocono Pines Horse Show Fine Success As 21 Classes Compete

Pocono Pines—The third annual Pocono Pines horse show was held on the grounds in the rear of the Pocono Pines Consolidated School Saturday with a fine attendance despite the threatening weather during the opening hours.

The show was promoted by the business interests, camps and interested individuals of the area, which were sold at the concession stands. It is estimated there were between 200 and 300 persons from a wide territory in attendance at the show.

There were 21 classes on the day's program which got under way at 11:30 a.m. Outstanding were three championship events which created much interest among the spectators.

The recreational camp championship was contested by the first and second place winners in classes one and five. Sue Hoback, up on Willie Sutton, and Linda Harris riding Spotch, finished first and second in the championship. Both are from Pine Tree Camp.

Edith Ambler, Pine Tree Camp won the championship on Irish Lass, reserve going to Tom Ramsey on Mr. Duffey, of the same camp.

Ed Millinger, up on Tamarack, owned by William Frankhauser, took the championship in the open jumper class, while Mickey Finn, owned and ridden by Charles B. Evans, Downingtown, took reserve honors.

Charles Fox, riding master at Pine Tree Camp, was general manager of the show, with Mrs. Henry Shields, of the same camp, looking after myriads of details in carrying out the plans.

The judges were Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Winchell, of West Grove, Pa. Announcer was Jane Marlin.

The committee which planned and looked after the many details of the show included the following: Glenmore Hayes, Harvey Keiper, Edward Quinn, John Kerick, Bill Quinn, Elmer Shafer, Willis Dunlap, Dr. James G. Kitchen, Bob Sellig, Elwood Crissman, Mrs. Adam Smith, Nelson Miller, Milet Butts, Roger Miller and Herbert Altmeier.

The following were in charge of the refreshments: Mrs. Mabel Franks, chairman; Mrs. Chester Woehrle, Miss Marie Luck, Chester Woehrle, Milo L. Wine and John Franks.

The results of the various classes follow:

Class 1—Recreation camp horseman, children 14 and under—1st, Liz Taylor, Pocono Lake Preserve; 2nd, Wendy Ross; 3rd, Sue Sweeney, both of Pine Tree Camp; 4th, Lawrie Riddick, Camp Owaisa.

Chipperettes Are Awarded 4-H Ribbons

The Chipperettes 4-H Club of Chipperfield Dr. took part in the roundup of county clubs held at the fire hall, Saylorsburg, Thursday, Aug. 19. There was a very large attendance.

The morning was spent judging the clothing and bake goods of the different clubs. All the girls received ribbons. Joan Hester and Diana Colvin received blue ribbons and Sharon Fable a red ribbon.

In the afternoon there was entertainment by the different clubs. First Abbie Jane Frisbie, Jeanie Douglas and Arlene Weber taught songs which they learned at 4-H roundup at Penn State University. The group also learned the club pledge as a song.

Each club in turn gave their entertainment. The Chipperettes put on a skit entitled "Aunt Betsy and the New Minister."

At the conclusion of the program, Miss Margaret MacLaren, district advisor, gave the presidents of the respective clubs seals and certificates for completing their club work for the year.

4-Hrs. Complete Their Tasks For Summer Season

Bartonsville—The last regular meeting of the Bartonsville 4-H club for the season was held at the home of the local leader, Mrs. Donald Hartman, on Wednesday, Aug. 18.

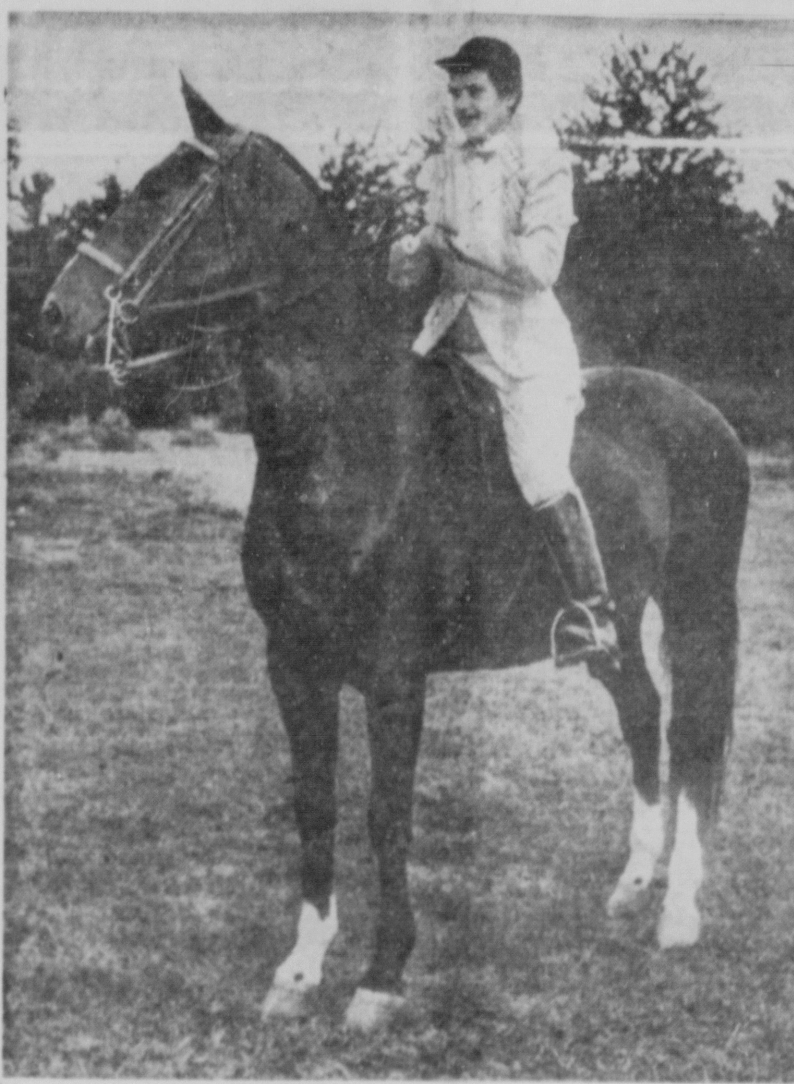

Members completed the skirts and dresses on which they had been working and also learned how to darn socks.

Final plans were made for their picnic at the CLU Memorial Park on Thursday, Aug. 26.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Hartman. Members present: Linda and Lois Strand, Kathryn Walters, Jean Spragle, Nancy and Sharon Canfield, Eva Argue and Beverly Hartman.

Also in attendance were the leaders, Mrs. Hartman and Miss Margaret MacLaren and a guest, Elinore Giersch, of Trenton, N. J.

Janet L. LaBar Becomes Bride Of Barry Becker

Bangor—The First United Evangelical Church, this place, was the scene of the late summer wedding of Miss Janet Lois LaBar, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Quintus H. LaBar, of 305 N. Fourth St., and Barry Becker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Becker, of 68 N. Third St., this place, Saturday at 11 a.m.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. B. P. Gieske, pastor of the church. Mrs. Warren Kress, of Pen Argyl, furnished the nuptial music and Mrs. Dorothy Burger, of Bangor, was soloist. Church decorations were white gladioli, asters and palms.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of French lace and nylon tulle over satin made with an off the shoulder effect neckline, tight fitted lace bodice, long pointed sleeves, full skirt with accordion pleated front and long circular train. Her fingered veil fell from a lace cap trimmed with pearls. She carried a white Bible with a white orchid and Stephanotis.

The maid-of-honor was Miss Gladys Itterly, of Ficksville, who wore a yellow ballerina length chantilly lace gown over taffeta. She carried a colonial bouquet of blue pompons.

The bridesmaids were Miss Beverly Beagle, of Bangor; Miss Joanne LaBar, East Bangor, and Mrs. Beverly Kackline, Bangor. They all wore ballerina length gowns of chantilly lace over taffeta with nylon tulle accordion pleated fronts and matching sweetheart picture hats. Their gowns were aqua, pink and blue respectively. They all carried colonial bouquets of pompons.

The best man was Dale H. LaBar, Bangor, brother of the bride. The ushers were: Karl Repsher, Pen Argyl, cousin of the bride; James Becker, Media, and Earl Becker Jr., Frederick, Md., both brothers of the bridegroom.

The wedding ceremony was followed by a reception in the church social rooms after which the newlyweds left on a honeymoon trip to Niagara Falls and Canadian points.

Mr. and Mrs. Becker were both graduated from Bangor High school. The former is employed in the office of the Julius Keyser Co., Bangor. Mr. Becker is employed by the Bangor Cork Co. in Pen Argyl. He is also superintendent of the First United Evangelical Church Sunday School.

Bartonsville 4-H Part Of Roundup Show

Bartonsville—The Bartonsville 4-H club had 100 per cent of its members present at the annual County 4-H Club roundup at Saylorsburg fire hall Thursday, Aug. 19.

The local club received a gold seal to be placed upon their charter and individual members were awarded blue and red ribbons for their work.

Following the judging in the morning, the Bartonsville club enjoyed a picnic lunch.

The afternoon was devoted to presentation of programs by the respective clubs. The Bartonsville Club presented four interesting and amusing skits—"The Tree," "The Railroad Crossing," "Toilet Pepper" and "Stiff Neck" with all the members participating in the casts.

Local members attending were: Beverly Hartman, Eva Argue, Kathryn Walters, Joan Spragle, Nancy and Sharon Canfield, Linda and Lois Strand and Mrs. Donald Hartman, leader. A guest, Elinore Giersch, of Trenton, N. J., was also in attendance.

Baby Shower For Infant Diana DeHaven

Bartonsville—Three weeks' old Diana Louise DeHaven was honored at a baby shower planned by Mrs. Stanley Nevil and held at the home of Diana's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Boyd DeHaven on Wednesday night, Aug. 18.

An abundance of gifts were arranged under a white umbrella with pink trimmings. Refreshments were served.

Those attending were: Mr. and Mrs. Ed Anthony, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Nevil and children Larry, Barbara, Michael and Kevin, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Weidman and children Patsy and Gary, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Spragle and daughter Joan.

Also Mrs. John Pashinski, Mrs. Joseph Carrier, Mrs. Bert Shafer, Roslyn Shafer, Tonya Schaller, Janine and Gregory Carrier, Mr. and Mrs. Boyd DeHaven and daughter, Diana Louise.

Sending gifts but unable to attend were: Mr. and Mrs. Louis Nessler, Mr. and Mrs. Emilie Orion, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Neillhardt, Mr. and Mrs. Neil Grover, Mrs. Gladys Goucher, Mrs. Eddie Weidman and Mrs. Kathryn Johnson.

David Woehrle Is 13 Years Old

A surprise party was held at Tobyhanna for David Woehrle at the home of his grand parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Woehrle in honor of his 13th birthday.

Those who attended were John Franks, Denny Woehrle, Richard Halstead, Debbie Woehrle, Terry Smith, Brenda Franks, Bruce Franks, Billy Meno Jr., Maxine Murphy, Jake Murphy, Bert Murphy, Edward Luck, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Woehrle, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Woehrle, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Halstead, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Woehrle, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Murphy, Mrs. Clark Smith, and the guest of honor, David Woehrle, who received many gifts.

Games and refreshments were enjoyed. Invited but unable to attend were Barry and Ronnie Franks and Randy Halstead.

West End Aux. Installation Planned

Effort—Plans for the installation of officers were made at last week's meeting of the West End American Legion Auxiliary of Memorial Post 927. Mrs. Anne Shafer presided at the meeting. The ceremony will be held at 8 p.m., Tuesday, September 14, at Pohopoko Hotel in Effort. Mrs. Bessie Marek, Eastern director, will be the installing officer.

Plans for a banquet for the Legion and Auxiliary members were also discussed.

Pocono Manor Laundry Folk Enjoy Outing

Pocono Manor—The Employees and staff of the Pocono Manor laundry staged a party Tuesday night at Toby Park, in Blakeslee, which featured a covered dish supper with grilled hamburgers and hot dogs. The various rides and roller skating were enjoyed, after which everyone joined in songs to the accompaniment of accordion music by Joseph Podschoch.

Those who attended the party were: Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hay, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Christman, Mrs. Irene Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Coleman and family, Francis Gangwere, Joseph Podschoch, Mrs. Elizabeth French, Mrs. Clara McGore, Mr. and Mrs. David Nelson, Douglas, Judy, Diane and David and sons, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Knecht and sons and Mr. and Mrs. George Raish.

If your custards "weep" or curdle, there's one thing you can be sure of: you have over-cooked them.

Mr. Harvey Shuster, visiting sales representative from the Lasse company, was most enthusiastic about our store and its customers. So were Miss Kay and Miss Cindy who accompanied him here to model Lasse coats in our two-day fashion promotion. Speaking of lassies, weren't our very own Stroudsburg models a credit to us? You'd have to go a long way to find anyone with more poise and wholesome attractiveness than they. Which just goes to prove that Lasse coats are perfect for everyone, amateur or professional, who wishes to look her very best... Ann Nitrauer pointed out an adorable new item of merchandise on our gift shelves Saturday. "Isn't it cute?" she exclaimed, as she took it apart and re-assembled it. "I'm going to have one of these myself before I leave for college." It will prove useful too, I imagine, for it's the most compact little sewing kit I've ever seen. Sheathed in red, yellow or green plastic, it's just about the size of a lipstick. The top is a thimble, the core is a tiny red holding spoils of vari-colored thread, needles, and a teenie pair of scissors that really work. In the bottom are buttons, a snap, and tiny safety pins. The price is 79c plus one penny tax. With this useful gadget you needn't pause in your travels to ask, "Who's got the button?"—you'll have it right in your purse... Ann did another bit of pointing out too this past Saturday. She pointed out a $75 fire screen with accessories to her second customer of the morning, and made a sale. It was probably the highspot of her summer with us, and gave her an extra reason for smiling all day long... Lizzie Koch of our hat bar proudly informed her friends that she had a birthday yesterday. Maybe I shouldn't mention her age, women being of varied opinion on that score, but I can say that Lizzie has worked for Wyckoff's off and on for more than fifty years. She remembers when the store was but a fraction of its present size, and can tell you fascinating stories about the Stroudsburg of years ago. Her hobby is dogs—all sizes, breeds, and colors, and has collected hundreds of articles and canine pictures which she intends to paste between covers some day. THERE, Florence Premore, why not take that as a clue to a scrapbook sale?... Wonder if I mentioned that Cora Alberson, head of our lingerie department, recently celebrated her 28th wedding anniversary? Cora is a whirlwind at selling nylon slips and night gowns, but she certainly is ruining business in our employees' lunch room. It seems she always has at hand some joy-killing book or pamphlet that has to do with calories—and, as you sit there padding your waistline, she pads the facts about your gluttony. "You'll be sorry," she chortles gaily as you concentrate on cheeseburgers and crumb pie, "why that's hundreds of calories—just hundreds." Somehow, the crumb pie doesn't taste the same after that, but we do have an excellent corset department—and that's some consolation... The gift show is now in progress at Philadelphia, which accounts for Marion Leedom's absence from the store. I wonder if you are as anxious as I to know what's new?... If you stop to examine the little hand-made dolls from Switzerland in our gift department, you'll also see a snapshot of the pleasant-faced crippled woman who creates them. The picture arrived along with the recent shipment, and we marvel anew at the remarkable talent of a lady who has conquered a dreadful affliction with a sunny smile... With the close of the season some of the pretty faces will disappear from our fountain—among them, Helen Ludwig's. We understand that Helen will become a student nurse at Philadelphia's Methodist Hospital. This is undoubtedly one of the finest thing to happen in medicine since penicillin was discovered... Coming in today? We hope you will.

Jos. Andre Features Low Price Choremaster Chain Saw Line

Cutting Power Engineered In Compact Unit

HERE ARE CHAIN saws with a name you know and quality you trust. The precision-built CHOREMASTER Chain Saw. Another in the famous line of CHOREMASTER products handled by your local Choremaster Dealer, Joseph H. Andre.

This new Choremaster Chain Saw is a compact, double handful of easy-to-operate cutting power with trouble engineered-out and extra sawing ability built-in.

In CHOREMASTER Chain Saws you'll find features galore... all contributing to faster cutting, easier handling and trouble-free service. Exclusive features like the extra capacity gas tank... the extra heavy .063 gauge chain and guide bar... choice of standard or heavy duty bars... wide range of bars from 14 to 36 inches.

Other features you'd expect to find only in chain saws costing much more: fool-proof carburetor, instant change from vertical to horizontal cutting, quick-set chain tension control, positive chain oiler, anti-friction bearings and lightweight, super strong construction. All controls arranged for fingertip operation. Safe and fumble free.

Incidentally, the best feature of all is the low price. Only $207.50 is the list price plus $2.50 freight charges. One of the lowest priced quality Chain Saws on the market today. So, before you buy any chain saw... get your hands on the Choremaster... you'll agree it's the sweetest running, most perfectly balanced chain saw you've ever used.

Other Choremaster power machines handled by Joe Andre include: The Choremaster Garden Tractor, The Tiller, The Power Hole Digger and The Rotary Mower. Other lines are: The Howard Rotoator line of tillers, The World Famous Locke Lawn Mowers in 24" to 76" sizes and the Agromat Garbage Mulcher. Stop in soon and look over these famous machines carried by Jos. H. Andre, Monroe County's Garden and Farm Implement Dealer. Mr. Andre is located on top of Godfrey's Ridge, near the Stroudsburg Radio Tower. Or phone 2047-J-1 for an appointment and demonstration.

Hot Water Economy

The best place for a water heater is as near as possible to outlets to minimize the cooling of water in the pipes. This is another advantage of having kitchen, laundry and bathrooms close together.

HEADQUARTERS FOR Westinghouse appliances in Canadensis, Pa. is Leslie W. Hay's modern salesroom and shop shown above. Mr. and Mrs. Hay recently returned from an all expense paid trip to Westinghouse plants in Mansfield, O. and Columbus, O. The trip was awarded for high sales performance by this dealer. Says Mr. Hay: "It is not hard to see why Westinghouse is such a fine product, for each day one each of the day's production of stoves, refrigerators, etc. is picked at random from the line and is completely disassembled and inspected for any defects or imperfections. That is what I call good Quality Control. That's why we can truthfully say 'You Can Be Sure If It's Westinghouse.'"

Porch Rug Paint

CANVAS paint or exterior stain can be used successfully on fiber porch rugs. Stain, however, being transparent, will allow badly worn places to show through. Many people prefer canvas paint for that reason.

Horst Calls On Democrats To Give Tax Facts

HARRISBURG, Aug. 22 (P)—Miles Horst, Republican state chairman, asked Democrats again over the weekend how they will raise a quarter of a billion in new taxes he says will be needed to balance the Commonwealth's budget for the next two years.

Horst said in a statement that Sen. George M. Leader, the Democratic candidate for governor doesn't know. He added that Mayor David L. Lawrence, of Pittsburgh, and Matthew H. McCloskey, the party's finance chairman, "know, but they aren't going to tell."

"They hope to wait until after election day to give our citizens the bad news."

Horst broke down the 150 million dollars to 138 million dollars produced by the state's one percent sales tax which Democrats want to discard; 100 million dollars to finance state services already authorized by the legislature, principally increased teachers' salaries and 15 million dollars for other state services.

Leader, in a speech last week at Pittsburgh, said the sales tax "would not have been needed had there been any real economy and sound financial judgment in the management of state government under Republican rule."

Horst, in his weekend statement, said "the $64 question still is who will be asked to foot the bill" should Democrats win the fall election.

Leader Asks Eisenhower To Make Study

HARRISBURG, Aug. 22 (P)—Sen. George M. Leader, Democratic candidate for governor, asked President Eisenhower for an on-the-spot survey of economic conditions in Pennsylvania.

Leader, in a letter to the President over the weekend, said his travels about the Keystone State "do not confirm the optimistic report you recently issued on the state of the national economy."

"I respectfully suggest," Leader wrote, "that the optimism you feel may lead you to minimize the seriousness of the economic problem in states like Pennsylvania. Your administration's recent action in denying the federal aid requested by our anthracite region would indicate that this may be the case."

"Would it not be possible for you to designate someone in whom you have full confidence to visit Pennsylvania and make an on-the-spot survey of economic conditions? I would be more than happy to assist and cooperate in every way with such a survey, assuming that its purpose would be to determine what positive steps might be taken to meet the situation."

In Pennsylvania, Leader continued, more than 600,000 people in 55 counties have qualified for surplus food distribution and 927,000 unemployment compensation checks are going out monthly.

"If we aid the people on relief, or now awaiting eligibility, including those whose unemployment compensation is exhausted, we begin to come within striking distance of our depression record."

There normally are 130,000 to 140,000 railroaders at work in the state, Leader said, adding that 25,533 now are unemployed. He listed 8,991 at Altoona; 4,135 at Philadelphia; 7,109 at Pittsburgh and 2,109 at Scranton.

Gypsy Rose Lee

Gypsy Rose Lee In Playhouse Show Tonight

MOUNTAINHOME—Gypsy Rose Lee stars this week in "Darling, Darling" at Pöcono Playhouse.

The play is an adaptation by Anita Loos of a French comedy. It is described by Rowena Stevens, owner-manager of the Playhouse, as a "brilliant and impudent" comedy.

Gypsy Rose Lee has appeared in nearly every branch of "show biz", beginning with a "kiddie act" as a child in vaudeville.

She continued through the years as star performer on the stage, in film and, more recently, as author of books and plays among them "The G String Murder" and "Mother Finds A Body."

Members of the cast will be Richard Kerr, whose most recent Broadway role was in Maurice Evans' production of "Dial M For Murder"; Tom Tryon, Jill Kraft, James Nolan and Florence Randerstrom.

The play is directed by John C. Wilson. It runs through this week with matinees on Wednesday and Saturday.

Ham Brodt and sons, Neal and Terry.

Kenneth Myers returned to his home in Schenectady, N.Y. after spending several days with his mother, Mrs. Clarence Myers.

Mrs. Eli Levine and son, Sanford of Elizabeth, N.J. are spending a few days with Mrs. Levine's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Max Effross on Delaware Ave.

Rev. John Carter, pastor of the Methodist Church is counselor at the Pöcono Plateau Institute this week.

Supreme Court Will Rule On Wiretapping

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 22 (P)—An appeal has been made to the Pennsylvania Supreme Court from a Superior Court decision granting the admissibility of evidence obtained through wire tapping in a criminal case.

The appeal was filed by attorneys for Isaac Chait of Lancaster whose conviction on a bookmaking charge was upheld July 13 in the lower appellate court.

The decision, on the petition by Attorneys Lemuel B. Schofield and W. Hensel Brown, acting for Chait, was the first in a state appellate court on the oft-disputed wire tap issue. The decision was 5-1, upholding Lancaster court.

The defense attorneys contend that wire tapping violates the fourth, fifth and sixth amendments of the federal constitution. In their Superior Court appeal, they state the Superior Court decision has the "effect of encouraging wire tapping on the part of police. The privacy of the innocent as well as the guilty is invaded," they stated.

They ask whether "the courts of Pennsylvania should condone the commission of a federal crime in one of its own courts in order to effect a conviction for a violation of a state statute."

Kunkletown Wins Over West End, 13-6

GILBERT — Kunkletown assured itself of a second place finish in the Pocono Mountains League yesterday with a 13-6 victory over West End A. C. here on the losing club's home grounds.

Yesterday's battle was the final regular season game for the circuit. The contest was a replay of a game washed out by rain earlier in the present campaign.

Kunkletown broke a scoreless deadlock with three runs in the third inning and held the upper hand the remainder of the distance, finishing off with a five-run outburst in the top of the eighth frame.

The winning club batted out 16 hits, while West End accounted for only 10. West End committed six errors and the visiting Kunkletown defense pulled three batters.

Varona To Trade Punches With Fernandez At St. Nick's Arena

COLUMBIA, N. J. — "Chico" Varona, welterweight champion of Cuba, wound up training for tonight's bout with Honolulu's Frankie Fernandez here at Harry's Farm last Friday.

Varona, number six ranking welterweight in the United States, will attempt to improve his national ranking at New York's St. Nicholas Arena. The bout will be televised by Dumont at 10 p.m.

Tuzo "Kid" Portugez, Varona's stablemate, swings into action on Wednesday, when he opposes tough Holly Mims, third ranking middleweight, in Madison Square Garden. Portugez is a native of Costa Rica. This bout will be televised by CBS at 10 p.m.

Portugez also trained at Harry's Farm, located five miles above the new Delaware Water Gap bridge on the shores of the Delaware River.

Mims will take a winning streak of 11 straight into this fight. Jimmy Carter, former lightweight title holder, is working out at Harry's Farm at the present time. Carter is preparing for a third shot at the crown he has earned on two occasions. Jimmy battles Paddy DeMarco, current champ, in San Francisco's Cow Palace on Wednesday, September 22.

Fegley Hurls No-Hitter In Softball Battle

GARFIELD, N.J. — Gall Fegley, veteran right handed pitcher, hurled a no-hit, no-run game yesterday as the Monroe County Softball All-Stars rolled over Empire Box, a plant in this community, 16-0. The game was played here at Belmont Oval.

Fegley was in complete control of the contest from start to finish as his mates supported him with a 14-hit attack. He retired eight batters on strikes and walked only one. Two others reached base on a pair of errors by Dick Pennington.

Fegley also lashed a home run for the All-Stars, as did "Dip" Lessig. The hard working pitcher added a single and double to the attack.

The All-Stars had no trouble and were in front from start to finish. The visiting crew picked up three runs in the first, six in the second, three in the fourth, one in the sixth and three in the seventh.

Box score follows:

Local Duster Places Second

NAOMI PINES — A locally built Duster class boat was runner-up in the second National Duster Championship races off Brant Beach, N. J. Sunday.

Duster 158 built and owned by Bill Person, Pocono Lake, member of the Naomi Lake Sailing Association here, was sailed by Harry Mote, Camden, N. J. and crewed by Person.

The boat had two firsts and a fifth and lost first place by only a single point.

A broken line in the first race caused the boat to capsize in heavy swell.

All the top Duster racers in the east will be here September 11 and 12 for the annual invitation regatta. Thirty or more boats are to be entered.

Cards Edge Redlegs, 9-7

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Stan Musial's two doubles paced the St. Louis Cardinals 13-hit attack on five Cincinnati pitchers today as the Redbirds pulled from behind twice to take a 9-7 victory from the Redlegs. The defeat dropped Cincinnati from fourth place in the National League race.

The Redbirds fell behind at the outset, 3-1, grabbed a 5-4 lead in the fourth and then, after Cincinnati took a 6-5 edge in the first of the fifth, St. Louis went in front to stay with two tallies in the home half. The final two Cardinals runs came in the sixth.

Musial's two hits raised his batting average to .348.

Johnny Temple and Jim Greengras shared six of Cincinnati's 10 safeties off three Redbird hurlers, one of Greengras' blows being his 23rd home run.

Your Horoscope Today

MONDAY, AUGUST 23, 1954
March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Use your free ability to make the most of only fair advantages on this uncertain day. Be well informed. Don't accept first "turn-down," try again, you may succeed.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — A good time to get ahead of your schedule, so that when lean days come you will have more time for planning. Forewarned is forearmed; take sound advice graciously.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — Matters requiring keen mental alertness or analysis are favored but the unexpected may cause hazards unless you are careful, conscientious. Finish what you start; don't rush.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — About same indications as Aries. Head sound advice; don't try to go along alone when cooperation helps. Be on guard for the unusual, perhaps quick changes in outlook.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — You may have to make an important decision or do something you don't want to do. Study well, don't make a snap decision or pass judgment quickly. Protect your honor, integrity.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo) — You can expect good returns from honest, intelligent effort today. More encouraging for you than for most, but you must hold to common sense and avoid strain and extremes.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — Somewhat indifferent aspects during the early hours. Mark time, do some thorough research. Get ready for better influences from 2 p. m. on. Some ingenuity and be friendly if you would achieve.

October 24 to November 23 (Scorpio) —

Delaware's Flow Lowest Ever Recorded

THE INTERSTATE Commission on the Delaware River Basin (Incodel) yesterday announced that stream flows in the Delaware River for the six weeks period since the first of July had fallen below any ever recorded during the 41 years of their measurement at Trenton.

James H. Allen, Incodel's executive secretary, said that flows in the Delaware during the past July averaged only 1300 million gallons a day and had dropped further in August to about 1100 million gallons daily. Last Thursday the flow fell below 900 million gallons, closely approaching the all-time record of 800 million gallons for a single day established back in September 1932.

Allen said that the two worst dry weather months of the year usually occur in September and October and that if this pattern persists the 1930 all-time low-flow record for July through October will be shattered this year.

"Because of the low flows, salt water from the ocean is moving farther up the Delaware River and at a faster rate than ever before," Allen stated. He said that at the present time brackish water has extended to above the Philadelphia Naval Base, as compared to October 1930 when salt water was reported to have reached Allegheny Avenue.

"Conditions in the River this year," said Allen, "provide a good basis for comparing the quantities of water which will be released from reservoirs to be constructed by the City of New York under the terms of the U. S. Supreme Court's decrees as compared with the amount of water which would be added to the River under the Incodel Plan."

"July flows this year would be increased by only ten per cent by the operation of the New York City 440 million gallon daily water project under the 1931 decree and by about 30 per cent under the June 1954 decree. By contrast the Incodel Plan would have added 140 per cent more water to the River this year in July and about 180 per cent more water in August."

"It should be quite clear," Allen said, "that the benefits of the New York releases will be more theoretical than measurable. However, no one can very well deny," he added, "that the more-than-doubling of existing flows by the Incodel Plan would be substantially beneficial to the entire Delaware Valley."

Pastor's Son Speaks Here

THE REVEREND Roger C. Stimson Jr., son of the pastor, preached at the Stroudsburg Methodist Church, yesterday morning. Rev. Stimson Jr. is the pastor of the Methodist Church at Bensalem, Pa., and was formerly pastor of the Richmond Methodist Church.

Rev. Stimson preached on the need for the active spiritual leadership of every Christian in these days of crisis.

He called attention to the report of the World Council of Churches where Christian leaders of Asia and Africa told of the need for spiritual leadership to meet the threat of Communism.

Mrs. Edith Metzgar was the organist of the Morning Service and Mrs. Katharine Stiff played for the Vesper Service, when Rev. Stimson preached on "Prayers of Confession."

Mrs. Roy Werkheiser was in charge of the Church-time Nursery and Altar flowers were given by Dr. and Mrs. T. I. Metzgar in memory of her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Rex.

A picnic supper for men of the Faithful Class and the Methodist Men of the Stroudsburg Methodist Church will be held at the cottage of Clarence Ackerman at Pocomantas Lake on Tuesday evening at 6:15.

Dr. Earl Willhoite, Waring Workshop Dean Off To Alaska To Conduct Four-Community Chorus

THERE'S NOTHING unusual about Dr. Earl Willhoite's catching a plane or train to visit a distant city as conductor of a music festival or community chorus—it happens, perhaps, a dozen times a year.

As Dean of Instruction at Fred Waring's Music Workshop at Delaware Water Gap, the native Oklahoman is frequently called upon to appear as guest conductor at these important music events. But when the invitation comes from Juneau, Alaska—well, that's something else again.

Inquiries from foreign lands about Fred Waring's techniques are commonplace. Oftentimes do Workshopers come from distant nations to study with the conductor of the Pennsylvania's at Fred's refurbished Castle Inn. But when Fred recently received a letter from Mrs. Jane McMullin in Juneau, employees at Waring Enterprises, Inc., really sat up and took notice. Could Mr. Waring conduct four community choruses at Juneau's 20th Century Theater on September 1 and 2 for a benefit concert sponsored by the local Rotary Club? Or, if not, could someone from the organization attend?

Unfortunately, Fred Waring's plans for August and September were already made, and business commitments disallowed his traveling to Alaska. But he would be delighted to send Dr. Earl Willhoite as his personal emissary—and with numerous experiences in such work, Earl would be the ideal man. After all, Earl had worked diligently with similar groups for years . . . and his background of high school and college teaching, before joining the Fred Waring staff, made him particularly suited for the chore.

So it is that at this moment, Earl Willhoite is on his way to Alaska, even though he is taking a somewhat circuitous route. On August 13 he was at the National Music Camp at Interlochen, Michigan. He is now vacationing with his father, Mr. John Willhoite, 120 Beech Street, Durant, Oklahoma. On August 28 he will leave for Alaska, arriving in Juneau on August 30 for two full days of rehearsals before the presentations at the Alaskan capital city.

Sponsored by the local chapter of Rotary International, and with proceeds going to Boy and Girl Scout groups to be used for improvements at their camp 30 miles from Juneau, the four choruses will range in age groups from eight-year-olds to adults. It is the first such work done in Juneau, and the four choruses have been working since the Fourth of July under Jane McMullin's direction. Mrs. McMullin's longtime interest in Fred Waring's techniques were stimulated while she was a student at the University of Tulsa under Arthur Westwood, a former member of Fred's famed Pennsylvanians. "That is why," she said, "I had no hesitation in asking Mr. Waring to visit with us—or if it would be possible for him to send someone from his staff to work with us to put our concert 'over the top'."

The transient community of Juneau, the capital and seat of federal agencies of the Territory, is on one side of a mountain. To reach the city, one must come by boat, plane, or ferry from Haines, a principal junction on the Alaska Highway. Dr. Willhoite will arrive by plane, from Seattle.

The concert presentations are being held in conjunction with Juneau's "September Sourdough Sales," a trade event promoted by local merchants expected to draw people to the city from distant outposts and communities. Advertising in connection with the event includes this catch-phrase: "Come to Juneau to hear the concerts directed by Dr. Earl Willhoite of the Fred Waring Workshop."

After the concerts, Dr. Willhoite will have his choice of several entertainments. There will be a boat available for a sight-seeing trip; a plane will be at his disposal for a trip over the Ice Cap; or, as Mrs. McMullin says, "we can arrange for him to go fishing and sample our Cutthroat, Steelhead, Dolly Varden, or Rainbow trout."

Needless to say, Dr. Willhoite will have much to discuss with his Stroudsburg neighbors on his return. Well-known locally because of his community activity and interest in local affairs, he lives at 534 Sarah Street with his wife, Leona, and two children, John Anthony and Carol Jean, who attend local schools.

His current trip marks his first visit to Alaska.

Legion Backs Vote Drive

HARRISBURG, Aug. 20 (AP)—The American Legion in Pennsylvania today began a drive to organize voting registration drives throughout the state.

A directive issued 1,000 Legion posts by Paul R. Selecky, Wilkes-Barre, state commander, told Legion officials that the need for increased registration is acute.

He asked local officials to furnish transportation to and from registration centers and to act as baby sitters if necessary to increase registration.

Zacharias Funeral Conducted

KRESGEVILLE—Funeral services for the late Charles E. Zacharias, 64, former Kresgeville farmer who died last week in Point Pleasant, N. J. hospital, will be held at 2 p. m. today in Palmerton.

Zacharias suffered a fatal heart attack while vacationing in New Jersey. At the time of his death he was employed by the New Jersey Zinc Co.

Born in Kresgeville, he was the son of the late Dennis and Emma Linedecker Zacharias. He is survived by his widow, the former Mary Mackes; two sons, Roy, Kresgeville and Marvin of Weatherly; four daughters, Mrs. Allen Zacharias and Mrs. Russell Bruch, both of Kresgeville; Mrs. Clarence Hahn, Trachsville and Mrs. Mark Kunkle, Allentown; two brothers, Warren Young, Quakake and George Young of Weatherly; 18 grandchildren. Two sons preceded him in death.
